

The World Factbook

Middle East :: Georgia

white rectangle with a central red cross extending to all four sides of the flag; each of the four quadrants displays a small red bolnuri-katskhuri cross; sometimes referred to as the Five-Cross Flag; although adopted as the official Georgian flag in 2004, the five-cross design appears to date back to the 14th century